How Can You Possibly be a Mormon and a Democrat?: Perspectives on Abortion, Economics, the Environment and Harry Reid By Clinton Joe Andersen Jr.

As part of the HOW CAN YOU POSSIBLY® book series, every page in this book is devoted to answering the question put forth on the front cover, namely, “How can you possibly be a Mormon and a Democrat?” For those who sincerely want to know the answer to that question but are afraid of hearing the same old self-righteous, emotional, ivory-tower, pinko-commie propaganda, this book goes beyond merely expressing the political views of your average Mormon Democrat. In fact, progressive views are presented in a way that is surprisingly satisfying to conservatives. Whether the topic is abortion, economics or Harry Reid, the political differences among members of the LDS Church are not going away. This book does not attempt to resolve these very real disagreements. It may help clarify each debate, while offering good news on each topic. Best of all, this book offers perspectives that truly transcend the issues.

Editorial Review

About the Author

Clinton "Joe" Andersen, Jr. spent two years in Russia as a missionary for the LDS Church. At age 19, he witnessed, firsthand, the devastation that Soviet communism had inflicted upon things like... customer service. That concept had been raped, pillaged and driven to extinction. There's nothing so strange as getting yelled at for not finding the sour cream on your own. It was no less strange for Joe to find himself, after two years, staring in complete awe and amazement at the cereal aisle of the grocery store. It was a formative experience, to say the least.

Upon his return, Joe met and married Karen, a woman with a special talent: a seemingly endless supply of patience with Joe's most eccentric undertakings, including a three-year venture into writing and publishing this very book. Before that, she endured a five-year construction project, which remained a constant eye-sore out the back window. During construction, Karen gave birth to two children. When the project was complete, Clayton and Shereen had a life-sized hobbit hole to call their own.

The Andersen hobbit hole has appeared in print media, such as The Mesa Tribune, The Los Angeles Times and Backyard Living magazine. It has also appeared on HGTV's "Offbeat America" and local news. In fact, it was awarded 3TV's "Best Home Sweet Home of 2006".

These media clips can be seen on Joe's YouTube channel at azhobbit.com, which also showcases his knack for video editing. Also on the channel is a true classic in filmmaking: "Clayton's Backyard Documentary".

In the meantime, with a bachelors degree in mechanical engineering from ASU, Joe has found work in various and surprising engineering fields: from water treatment plants to designing multiple subdivisions, from aerospace solenoid valves to turbine engine parts. It's not rocket science, but its close. Besides, Joe also found work in the field of brain surgery as a neurosurgical image guidance engineer.
